GIRLS SELL POM-POMS

The Girls League sold pom poms Feb. 10 and 11 for the annual basketball tournament. The pom poms of festive gold and green crepe paper, were made with the thought of adding pep and color to the cheering section and to boost the moral and support of the team.

P. T. A.

The next P. T. A. meeting is being held February 14, 8:00 P. M. in the Fellowship Hall.

One of the subjects that will be discussed is whether or not a tennis court will be built for the young people of Rogue River.

Regular meetings are held on the second Monday in each month during the year.

CHIEFTAINS WIN COUNTY

The Rogue River Chieftains came out on top in the Jackson County Basketball Conference when Butte Falls, because of bad weather conditions, forfeited the last game of the schedule.

The Rogue River High School can be especially proud of its basketball squads and their coach as neither the first nor second string players have lost a game this year...conference or non-conference.

BEAT TALENT

The Jackson County "B" School Tournament began with the schools holding standings as follows: Rogue River in the number one spot, Phoenix, Talent, Jacksonville, Gold Hill, Butte Falls, Prospect, and St. Mary's in their respective places.

The playoff for the District 5 Championship is being held this weekend. Already St. Mary's has been downed and Rogue River is looking forward to a fray with Talent tonight at 7:30 in the St. Mary's gym in Medford. The winner of this game will go into the finals playing the winner of the Phoenix and Jacksonville game. The finals for deciding first, second, third, and fourth places will be held in the Medford Senior High School tomorrow night, February 12, at 7:30 and 8:30.

For the winners of the district championship there is still another hurdle before the team can go to state.

Lettermens Ball

The first semi-formal ball of the year was given Saturday, February 5, in the local high school gym by the Lettermen.

The music for this gala affair was arranged by the Swing Band under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Westerfield.

The door prize, a lovely box of chocolates was won by Mrs. Reed Carter, a member of the school board.

The Letterman's Club received many encouraging compliments on their decorations of the gym and arrangements made for the dance.

Two hundred and fifty ballons, used in the decorations, when broken were found to contain confetti.

VALENTINE

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The annual football banquet was given for the football players of Rogue River High School, Saturday, February 5, at 6:30 P. M.

Present were the football team and their guests, the faculty and their guests and members of the school board.

The dinner was supervised by Mrs. Pearl Bean, Mrs. Laura Dennison and the home ec. classes.

The team expresses their appreciation.

WHY AM I HERE

No. 1--If I come I can have a good time at the parties, dances, and banquets.

No. 2--I'm coming for basketball season and would just as soon quit when it is over.

No. 3--I come to get out of work at home and I'll quit as soon as I can find something easy to do.

No. 4--This is my last year and Dad said I could have a car if I graduate so I may as well finish.

No. 5--My folks make me come or I wouldn't be here.

Haven't your parents made sacrifices to keep you in school and keep you clothed? Has anyone whined or pouted because they helped give you clothes, books, and help you get an education? All right--don't disappoint them, do your best!

LOCKER TROUBLE

Have you wondered why your pencils, books, and school paper have often disappeared from your locker when you need them most? If you stopped to count the people who could very easily know your combination, you would understand why.

There are well over 100 people who come into school every year. Among these there are a large per cent of the three high classes

-PLOP!-

A small boy carrying oysters home for dinner felt a cold, fishy trickle down his arm, but he paid no attention. Plop! a soft squashy sound hit the sidewalk. But he did not notice the trail he was leaving behind him. Plop! Plop! Plop! Three more fresh slimy ones hit; on and on the boy walked. An aristocratic old gentleman, his nose in the air, put down his well-fitted spats gingerly, but alas! right on Oyster No. 1! A sudden waving of feet in the air, and the old gentleman ruined his newly pressed pants, got a backache by falling again on Oyster No. 2, 3, 4, and went home angrily with a fishy smell in his nostrils.

This small boy unconsciously affected the old gentleman. We, also unknowingly, affect other people.

Moral: Let us take care to leave the right impressions and influences behind us and not something like banana peels and oysters, for our fellow man to slip on.

(sophomore, junior, and senior) who have come here last year. This would mean approximately 80 or 90 students, each knowing at least one combination would return to school to get a new locker with another.

This makes it possible for five people to know your combination besides the friend or friends you have told.

If a system could be set up so that the same person could receive his same locker all four of his high school years, it would be more efficient.

St Valentine's Day Origin

Saint Valentine is the name given to three different martyrs whose feast day falls on February 14.

One Saint Valentine was a Roman priest and doctor who was beheaded about A. D. 269. Another was a bishop who is believed to have been beheaded in Rome about A. D. 273. The third was a martyr in Africa, about whom very little is known.

The customs of Saint Valentine's Day have no connection with the lives of these saints, excepting their feast days. There are several different explanations for the customs of sending cards of greetings and love tokens on Saint Valentine's Day. The most plausible explanation is that Saint Valentine's Day is a survival of a Roman festival held on February 15.

It was once a custom to draw lots to decide which young men and women should be each others "valentine" for the coming year. The couples would then exchange gifts, and sometimes they even become engaged to be married.

Valentine's Day has been carried on through the years in America.

The children exchange valentines with their friends. Valentine Boxes and parties are the common custom. However, even the olsters recognize this day by sending cards to their friends and relatives. Sweethearts and husband and wives often exchange boxes of candy.

Freshman Get Two New Members

On Tuesday, February 1, two new members enrolled in the freshman class. Evanell Towne came here from Seattle, Washington where she attended the Edmond S. Meany Junior High School for three years. She likes our school very much and thinks the students are swell. While she lived in Washington she was President of a total enrollment of 350.

Donna Rae Butts was born in Missouri, but had been attending school in Wenatchee, Washington before coming to Rogue River.

She likes our school fine and thinks the students are wonderful. Her hobby is collecting vases.

REALISTIC MOHAWKS

Six Mohawk Indians came up from the basement of Rogue River High School a few days ago. If you looked closely you would identify them as Glen Depuy, Gene Depuy, Jack Burk, Dick Deckleman, Darrell Graves, and Bob Gianoclis.

The boys have one advantage over all the rest. They may be "hairless" but, "variety, is the spice of life."

MEMORY BOOKS RECEIVED

The senior class has received it's memory books. The memory books have a smart looking "49" rush wagon on the front and a graduation cap, both done in gold. The memory books follows the pattern of the "49er's all. the way through. Few of the seniors are having them painted giving more attractiveness.

A FOUR-YEAR HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION

The following article contains excerpts from the Education News, a publication by the State Department of Education

The question "How long should a student spend in grades 9---12 in order to secure a high school education?" has been widely discussed by administrators.

The practice of permitting high school students to accelerate their programs became rather common during the war years and has been carried over in a number of schools to the point where in some instances an administrative problem has been created. In general administrators agree, and the State Department of Education recommends that the program of the student should be scheduled in such a manner that he will remain in school a minimum of four years. Exceptions should be permitted by the administrator only in certain situations. For the most part, these should be limited to the students who are over-age and are capable of taking an accelerated program, and to those students whose families, because of illness or other circumstances are dependent upon the earnings of the students for their livelihood.

The Northwest Accrediting Association has discouraged the practice of permitting students to accelerate their programs. This association is one of six regional associations. It was established on April 3, 1917. The Northwest Accrediting Association combines research study with the formulation and maintenance of standards for accrediting.

Pressure from students and parents for acceleration is primarily the result of overemphasis on the amassing of a certain number of units rather than the realization of educational opportunities.

While waiting for a small job to be done on his car, a customer watched a mechanic change the oil in another car without spilling a drop, check the radiator, clean the windshield, wipe away all the gressy finger marks, place a clean cloth over the upholstery, wash his hands thoroughly and drive the car slowly out to the street curb.

"Now, there's a real mechanic," the customer observed to the foreman of the shop.

"Oh," thats his car.

TEACHERS ARE FUNNY

One morning, arriving at school, I had a funny feeling something was wrong. I banged into the school as usual and when I passed the office I stopped short, for much to my surprise, Mrs. Westerfield, acting as superintendent, sat behind the desk pulling out her hair and writing unexcused slips for the kids, not giving them a chance to explain. The kids, very unhappy with their unexcused slips, trotted out of the office.

But that wasn't the half of it, for when time came for shop, we rushed over so we could get started soon. It started out O.K. that is, until we got into the shop and there stood Miss Grubbs. Everything flew at once with saws buzzing, whittlings and varnish piled up. When the kids finished they stood back and admired their fine work and they thought it very nice for Miss Grubbs was all nailed up in a box, varnished slick with just her head poking out. Boy! What a lovely statue. We'll get no more work from her for a while.

When the bell rang, we rushed to "social econ." And then did we get a surprise! Mrs. LeRoy stood in front of the senior class with a "social econ." book talking about Missoula instead of Texas. Gee! What a person can learn in "social econ."! These modern ways are sure improving and they don't cover much territory.

When we got out into the hall a giggling girl rushed up to tell the latest. Mr. Grosenbach was teaching typing. I mean the kids were teaching him and, believe it or not, they gave him a five for the day.

For Pete's sake! Wait a minute. It was "Texas" wobbling down the hall and looking pretty green.

"Hey, Webb. What's wrong with you? Doesn't home ec.. agree?" "Nope, that thar stuff I put in the soup isn't like that down home. I have an idee I'm kinda sick so if you'll just move aside I'll get a goin."

Whee! What had happened?

Oh, well. We scooted on to chemistry. Mrs. Stockman!! Or was it? I think so. We had another look, it was. For heaven sakes what a disaster!! Mrs. Stockman blew up or should we say something in chemistry went wrong.

Next we ran into some one from Journalism. We gathered around to hear the latest. Mr. Tryon had just tried to put out a paper according to the book, but he didn't know how so he was a black boy covered with the ink that was suposta go on the mimeograph. I bet there will be no more remarks from him for a long time.

Oh! Oh! another visitor with a childish attitude. It was Mrs. Clark franically trying to find some one who knew just a little about English. Poor creature. The kids tried to teach her, like they were doing the other.

Incidently in the band room we ran into the last of our little green-eyed monsters, Mr. Mekvold. Mr. Mekvold was standing behind a music stand waving a stick furiously like he was getting after some poor band member. Instead he was just trying to lead a band he didn't know anything about. The kids were very uncooperative. So with sour notes that swore at each other, the band ended with a loud crash. That did it. I jumped up, looked around the familiar scene of my bedroom and found I had been dreaming. My mother's familiar voice came from the kitchen with an air of firmness telling me it was time to get up.

The following account entitled "I Had 18 bottles" is supposed to be authentic. Even if it has made the editors of 18 joke books happy.

I had 18 bottles of whiskey in my cellar and was told by my wife to empty the contents of each or else. I said I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task. I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with it, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdress the cork from the third bottle and poured the whiskey down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and threw the rest down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the mest glass and poured the cork down the bottle then I corked the sink with glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.

When I had everything emptied I steadied the house with one hand counted the glasses, corks, bottles, and sinks with the other, which were 29 and as the house came by I counted them again, and finally had all the houses in one bottle which I drank. I'm not under the alfluience of incogol, as some thinkle peep I am. I'm not half as thunk as you might drink. I fool so feelish I don't know who is me and the drunker I stand here the longer I get.

ELECTRIC MAP

The sixth grades's electric map is a map of the United States with a bell attached to the bottom. A transformer is used to the proper strength so the bell will not burn out. A piece of tape has been placed on the noise so it will not disturb other classes.

The map was made last year for the sixth grade classes by Mrs. Webb, the sixth grade teacher. It helps the students to locate the states and study their geography. In science it helps the class to locate the states and the most important cities.

One hundred fifty-five cities on the map.

There are wires running from the screws where the cities are to the screws by the names of the cities. When the wire from the bell is touched to a city and the wire from the transformer is touched to the correct name of that city the curcuit is completed and the bell will ring.

This map is used as an extra--curricula activity. On rainy days we have to spend much of our activity-periods in our room. This map affords us an opportunity to spend our time profitably and enjoyably.

The above story was written by a student in the sixth grade..

The fifth grade plan to have a valentine party Monday afternoon.

Irene Bringmann has a new pet; an airdale puppy named Prince.

Paul Christensen is selling tickets to the boy scout ecposition at G.P. Friday Feb.11.

Those receiving all 1's and 2's for the third six weeks were Bonnie Mayfield, Paulette Parsons, and Linda Reddington.

BAD WEATHER

The bad weather has caused quite a problem for the teachers over at the grade school. The necessity of staying indoors creates a lot of extra hall duties during the noon hour. The other teachers find it necessary to stay in their rooms, watching the youngsters who are finding a way of staying out of the weather by making up work, or learning some new folk dances. They are very eager for spring to come.

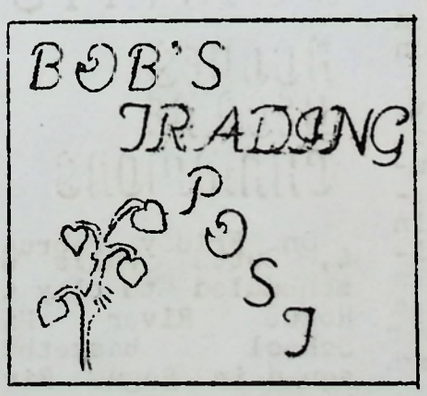
We have played two games recently, one was Jerome Prairie, and the other with Jacksonville. And will play Phoenix February 14th. And our tournament the 17th, 18th, 19th.

Lois Stewart has been absent from school for some time because of appendicitis. She is recovering very nicely and should be back to school soon.

SEVENTH GRADE

The students in the seventh grade have been decorating our room for Valentines Day. We have made our Valentines box and are preparing for a party.

We have three students absent from our room, Beverly Smith, Oscar Stalsworth and Marilyn Smith. We also have a new student, his name is Douglas Doolittle.



ROGUES DEFEAT EAGLES

The Eagle Point five took a second bow when the Rogue River squad out-scored them 49-21. The Rogues played on Eagle Point's court Saturday, January 29, and did a fine job handling their foe on the large floor.

The Rogues had a 10-point lead at the end of the first quarter and at the half more than doubled this score. Gene DeRuy, Pete Currier, Eugene Cummings, Lee Wales, and Jack Burk started the tilt on the roll for the Rogues.

ROGUES BEAT ST. MARY'S

The Rogues badly beat out the Crusaders on Friday, January 28, with 72-25 as a final score. This was the Rogues 15th straight victory and was expected to win even though they played on the opponents floor.

The starting five were the regular first string except for Eugene Cummings, who replaced Glen DeRuy in the left forward position. The game was rough but the Rogues held a big lead over St. Marys all through the game.

The Junior Varsity won their game by a lead of 53-30. The J. V's. began their scoring late in the third quarter and gained a big margin. The five starting were: Neal Hadley, Jim Martin, Don Poitevint, Harry Frantz, and Jim Boulter.

BASEBALL NEXT

After the team comes back from the tournaments, they will get out their uniforms to start the 1949 baseball season. No one knows exactly when the first game will be.

J.V'S WIN

The Junior Varsity finished another unbeaten year; this is a fine record for any team. This makes the third annual unbeaten Junior Varsity for Rogue River High School. With a team as smooth and complete as the second string was this year, the Rogues should always be on top. The average lead for their games has been as high and sometimes higher than our first string. This means we should have another winning team next year.

BUTTE FALLS FORFEITS

ROGUES BECOME CHAMPIONS

On Friday February 4, Butte Falls was scheduled to play the Rogue River High School basketball squad in Rogue River but they were compelled to forfeit the game because the unexpected snow and ice made it impossible for Butte Falls to run a bus for the players. Because this was the last conference game of the season for Rogue River, it automatically placed them as county champions.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

ROGUE RIVER VS. TALENT

On Friday, February 11, Rogue River plays Talent's bulldogs at 7:30 p. m. in the St. Mary's gym. The winner plays for first and second place Saturday night. Talent beat Butte Falls on Thursday with a score of 77-26 and Rogue River beat St. Marys 22-17 on the same day.

PHOENIX VS. J'VILLE

On Friday February 11, Jacksonville will play Phoenix at 8:30 p. m. to see who plays for first and second place in the tournament. Thursday Jacksonville beat Gold Hill in an overtime game and Phoenix won over Prospect.

The winners of these two games will play Saturday, February 12, at 8:30 p. m. for the final first and second honors of the tournament. The first place winner will represent the district at the Lake Klamath tournament.
